CLASS POEM

The time has come for us, dear school,
To say our last goodby;
And as we think of these last words,
We breathe a heavy sigh.

A sigh that takes us back again,
Back through the many years—
To the time we entered thy mighty halls
With our quiet, childish fears.

But fear has gone and hope is here
As on the road of life—
Our hopes, we know, will be fulfilled,
Though paths be filled with strife.

So as we leave thee, dear old school,
We raise each voice to call:
"The happiest days we've ever spent
Were at EAST DONEGAL."

Looking Backward

Can it be possible six years have passed since we were the sixty-four little, somewhat bewildered seventh graders? Miss Henderson and Mr. Bender helped us become accustomed to this larger building and to an entirely new schedule. How hard it was for us to have classes all day without any recess, but moving from room to room gave us our daily exercise.

By the time we were eighth graders, we considered ourselves grown up and practically upper classmen. We were allowed one representative to the Student Council; our choice was Donald Wolgemuth. Fred Wetzel, Jere Henderson, and Ross Eshleman represented us in the band. This year, with Miss Henderson and Mr. Bender as our advisors, we took our first class trip. None of us will forget that day spent at Gettysburg.

New members from Rheems, Ironville, and Silver Springs brought our freshman class enrollment to seventy-nine. This year Sidney Gibble was our president assisted by Fred Wetzel as vice-president; Yvonne Brubaker, secretary-treasurer; and Ross Eshleman, historian. Under the leadership of Mrs. Gingrich, Mr. Dotterer, and Mr. Hollinger, we chose maroon and gray as our class colors and purchased class hats, which most of us forgot to wear after our class trip to Philadelphia. There we saw the Betsy Ross House, the Liberty Bell, and from our "excellent" seats we watched the Brooklyn and Philadelphia centerfielders play an outstanding game. Yvonne Brubaker was our new Student Council member and Phyllis Wolgemuth, escorted by Fred Wetzel, was our member of the May Queen's court. Perhaps the most important event of our junior high school years was our ninth grade promotion. The speakers were Yvonne Brubaker, Nancy Hanshue, Evangeline Yoder, Donald Wolgemuth, Fred Wetzel, and Jere Henderson. Sarah Singer, Ross Eshleman, and Paul Kauffman played instrumental numbers. Citizenship awards were given to Evangeline Yoder and Fred Wetzel. Scholarship awards were presented to Gladys Weaver and Jacob Shenk. Sarah Singer, Harold Derr, and Donald Wolgemuth were given athletic awards. Yvonne Brubaker and Jere Henderson received the activity awards.

In our first year of senior high school Miss Sloat, Mr. Dotterer and Mr. Hollinger were our class advisors. Our class officers were Harold Derr, president; Gladys Weaver, vice-president; Yvonne Brubaker, secretary; Fred Wetzel, treasurer; and Donald Wolgemuth, historian. Phyllis Wolgemuth and Fred Wetzel were added to the Student Council. Remember that trip to Philadelphia? We almost lost some of our class at the zoo. Then we visited Franklin Institute and hurried through the Museum of Art to take Yvonne to the ball game. We had a Thanksgiving Party and this year we purchased reversible class jackets. Our May Court attendants were Sarah Singer and Phyllis Wolgemuth, escorted by Donald Wolgemuth and Fred Wetzel.

The officers of the junior class were Fred Wetzel, president; Yvonne Brubaker, vice-president; Robert Kline, secretary; Donald Wolgemuth, treasurer; and Ross Eshleman, historian. We elected Dorothy Peifer and Robert Kline to the Student Council. Our class was proud to be named the champions of the Jack Frost Frolic. At the Mt. Joy Farm Show we had a food stand during the Corn Husking Contest. We received our class rings as belated Christmas gifts. In January, Ross Eshleman was selected to play in the Southern District Band Festival held at Millersburg. Our first National Honor Society members were Yvonne Brubaker, Glayds Weaver, and Patricia Sager. Who will forget Lovina Demmy as the crotchety old maid aunt in "Whoa, Auntie!" — under the capable direction of Mrs. Llewellyn? In the spring of the year our May Court attendants were Josie Fornoff, Patricia Sager, and Jeanne Mitchell. The big event of this school year was the Junior-Senior Prom, which followed a springtime theme.

Finally September, 1953 arrived—we are the mighty seniors. Our class advisors were Mrs. Lutze, Mr. Dotterer, and Mr. Richter. Milton Mowrer and Ross Eshleman were our new members of the Student Council and Donald Wolgemuth was elected president. Strange as it may seem, our senior class officers are all boys: Fred Wetzel, president; Milton Mowrer, vice-president; Donald Wolgemuth, treasurer; Robert Kline, secretary; and Ross Eshleman, historian. Remember the time in September when everyone went to Shelley's Studio in Lancaster to have his picture taken for the yearbook? Mr. Shelley did make us look sophisticated, didn't he? In November we had a food stand at the Mt. Joy Farm Show. Later in November we presented our play "Papa Says No!" Yvonne's acting as a twelve year old brat stole the show. Maybe, our plays were successful because they both opened on Friday, the thirteenth! — our lucky day! For the second time Ross Eshleman was selected to play in the county band. Do you remember how surprised we were when the curtains opened at the Christmas party given to us by the faculty? Selected for county chorus were Nancy Hanshue, Josie Fornoff, Jeanne Mitchell, Rhoda Weaver, Ruth Horning, Fanny Snyder, Yvonne Brubaker, Paul Kauffman, Fred Wetzel, Ross Eshleman, Bernard White, and Donald Wolgemuth. Patricia Sager was elected queen at our Valentine Dance. Sidney Gibble was her escort. Who can forget how we pounded on doors to sell clothes props, fire extinguishers, and Christmas candy to earn money for the trip to Williamsburg? This trip and our graduation bring to a close six happy years spent at East Donegal, but the memory of them will go with us for many years to come.

We entered our final year in junior high school with much zest and enthusiasm. Barbara Gibble and Kenneth Wittle were chosen to represent us on the student council. Our big project this year centered around the many problems of publishing a junior high yearbook with Miss Seldomridge in charge. Under the leadership of Mr. Hollinger, Miss Sloat, and Mr. Depoe, our class advisors, we decided, after much discussion, to adopt the carnation as our class flower and blue and gold as our class colors. Our motto is, "Live to Learn; Learn to Live." We are now looking forward to making our Ninth Grade Promotion a success and to taking an active part next year in the student life of our new senior high school.

No longer is the big high school building strange to us. We entered our second year in Jr. High School well disciplined in the new responsibilities of high school life and eager to accept the challenge of greater participation in that life. We elected Robert Hiestand as our first representative to the student council. More and more of our voices could be heard cheering our teams on to victory and an increasing number participated in the all-student dances after some games. We were active in the U. N. Assembly program as non-speaking delegates from the various member countries to the General Assembly. And some of us took an active part as representative immigrants in the Brotherhood Week Assembly Program. We had lots of fun as we met all the responsibilities of school life and as we enter the last year of junior high school we eagerly anticipate bigger jobs and greater responsibilities.

This year we became a part of the big school with long halls, many classrooms, and older students. We're growing up. But we had problems; how to pass correctly in the hallways, so many teachers to meet in different classrooms, no recess, how to use our study halls. Miss Henderson and Mr. Bender, our homeroom advisors, guided us successfully through these and other problems. We organized our homerooms. Our semester presidents were Barry Brandt and James Hecht in the "A" section, and Jack Wolgemuth and Peter Carpenter in the "B" section. Remember how assembly broke up our Valentine Party? But we had the ice cream and soft drinks afterward. Section "A" had a George Washington Party for some members who were moving to other schools. Now we are looking forward to meeting greater problems and opportunities as we grow older in our school life.
